to Berlin reports, the Germans have placed their center at Augustow, near the frontier between Poland and Prussia. It is not known whether they are moving slowly but steadily, or whether they are waiting for the happenings in the west to decide their course.

Three monarchs—the Russian emperor, the German emperor and the president of Belgium—and the president of the United States, are waiting for the war to end on their way to visit the troops in the front. The German emperor is on his way to the front, and the Russian emperor is on his way to the front. The president of Belgium is on his way to the front, and the president of the United States is on his way to the front.

The Russian emperor has left Petrograd for the front, and the German emperor is on his way to the front. The president of Belgium is on his way to the front, and the president of the United States is on his way to the front.

Some are for war and others for peace. The war is a great thing, and it is a great thing to see the world at war. The war is a great thing, and it is a great thing to see the world at war.

Allies Take German Trenches And Go After the Right Wing

Paris, October 4.—The official announcement issued by the French war office tonight reports progress in the region of Solons, where several German trenches have been taken.

The battle on the left is in full swing without decisive result. The text of the communication follows:

"First—On our left wing the struggle is in full swing in the region of Aras, without decisive having been reached. The action has been less violent between the upper valley of the Aras and the Somme, and between the Somme and the Oise. We have made progress in the region of Solons, where some of the enemy's trenches have been captured.

"Second—On almost all the remainder of the front, the full already noted, progress has been made."

GERMAN SPIES CAUSE DOWNFALL OF NAMUR

Spies Opened Tide Gates of the Meuse and This Enabled the Kaiser's Troops to Cross.

London, October 4.—The fall of the Belgian city of Namur was due largely to the work of German spies, according to a Times correspondent in Belgium.

"One of the principal features of Namur's defenses was the river Meuse," the correspondent writes. "The Germans, assisted by spies, managed to open the tide gates of the Meuse, thus lowering its waters. They were then able to cross the river."

"When the Namur commander saw that resistance was impossible without reinforcements, he tried to rally all the forces from the outlying forts to the main points of defense. But owing to the work of spies he found his underground telephone system was destroyed. He thus was unable to direct his campaign or to summon reinforcements."

"As the result of the crippling of the telephone lines, each regiment was compelled to fight its way out of Namur separately, with heavy losses. The garrison had remained twelve hours longer than a man or a gun would have been able to hold out. It was a matter of fact, only 12,000 of the garrison of 25,000 escaped."

"The German attack on Namur was opened with 17-inch siege guns, which were brought into position under cover of a cavalry screen. The older guns of the forts were powerless even to reply. Forts Maesloup, Malmaison, Andoy and Cognelle were destroyed, with every man of their garrisons."

FUNDS ARE WANTED FOR THE RED CROSS

Washington, October 4.—A national call for funds for the Red Cross was issued tonight by Mrs. William C. Brewster, president of the American Red Cross. Each state report is requested to superintend collections in her district.

SUCCESS FOR GERMANS IN WESTWATER

London, October 4.—Reuters' Pretoria correspondent says the number of prisoners captured by the Germans in the Westwater district of the Orange Free State is 172. All are members of the South African mounted rifles.

BRITISH CASUALTIES IN BATTLE OF AISNE

London, October 4.—Official list of casualties in the battle of the Marston, in the Westwater district of the Orange Free State, is 172. All are members of the South African mounted rifles.

London, October 4.—Every man permanently disabled by the war is to be paid a pension of £100 a year, according to the decision of George Nicoll, the labor leader for the Black Friday conference of Glasgow.

EPICUREAN BEATEN BY ALBANIANS

London, October 4.—A Stefani agency dispatch from Rome says a telegram from Albania states that the Greeks have been defeated by Albanians and have evacuated Berat, leaving four large towns, two quarters and a number of prisoners in the hands of the Albanians.

ALLEGED THREE ANTWERP FORTS HAVE FALLEN—IN FRANCE THEY SAY ALLIED ATTACKS HAVE BEEN REPULSED

Berlin, October 4.—(Via Wireless to Saville, L. 1.)—The following official announcement was made today:

"In the siege of Antwerp forts Wavre, Catheline and Fort Wavre have been taken and Fort Wavre is in the hands of the enemy. An important strategic point has been occupied."

"On our western wing a new French attempt to take the forts has been repulsed. The French have been ejected from their positions south of Wavre. Forts from Toul were repulsed with heavy losses."

MEN OF OLD IRELAND GO TO FIGHT GERMANS

Thousands of Irishmen Have Volunteered—Redmond Calls the Irish to Arms.

Dublin, October 4.—(Via London.)—The number of new recruits for the Irish Volunteers has reached 5,000. More than 5,000 of these are from the Dublin district, 4,000 from the rest of Ireland and the remainder from Belfast.

The Irish Volunteers are not only the best of the Irish Volunteers, but are the best of the Irish Volunteers. The Irish Volunteers are not only the best of the Irish Volunteers, but are the best of the Irish Volunteers.

BRITONS PLAY FOOTBALL WHILE FIGHTING

On the Battle Front, October 4.—(Via Paris) After the determined attack and counter attacks of the past few days, there has been a lull in the fighting along the western front since last yesterday except on the most extreme wing near Arras, where the fighting continued incessantly.

The French soldiers were greatly surprised today to see their British comrades, after the long spell in the trenches, retire to some distance in the rear and initiate several football and basketball games. Some of the British had lost a large proportion of their numbers in the severe battles of the last week, but the rest of the men for the sport was unabated.

Most of the units not actually engaged on the firing line today attended to their own amusements, conducted by the army chaplains.

The news that President Poincaré is coming to the front has created a good impression in all ranks in the army.

RUMANIA TO STAND BY NEUTRAL ATTITUDE

London, October 4.—The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph has sent the following dispatch:

"A message from Bucharest, Rumania, says that the president of the council of the crown and the council of the crown and the council of the crown have decided to ask King Carol I. to hold the council meeting fixed for this week, saying there is no need for Rumania to declare a policy of neutrality."

Recent dispatches stated that King Carol, because of a promise he had made to Germany, was to remain neutral. The Rumanian army to assist the German army in the war. The Rumanian army to assist the German army in the war.

CHURCH CELEBRATES TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Splendid Record Has Been Made by Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist Church.

"He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; He breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear in sunder."

While the services in other churches in the city Sunday morning were given up to "prayers for universal peace," the services at the Ponce de Leon Baptist church were devoted to "prayers for peace," and to "prayers for a continuance of the Lord's blessings on the church," it being the tenth anniversary of this church, which has met with a remarkable spiritual growth during its short existence.

Interesting exercises were held in the Sunday school, and the church choir arranged a beautiful song festival. The choir sang Gounod's "Love, My Answer," and a "Lullaby" was rendered by Dr. Wilhelm Owsen. "Peace I Leave With You," by Finney. Mrs. Shyly Owen Hartley, soprano soloist, sang "The Highway Shall Be There," by Patten.

The sermon of the pastor, Rev. Arthur Gordon, was filled with the inspiration of a holy peace. His conclusion was an admonition to his congregation to hold true to their mission, so that the will of God the Father be fulfilled. "Proceed in the steps you have followed during the last ten years, letting the gospel of your peace with a triumphant hope that you may come into the Kingdom of God."

"But, remember, it is useless to try alone to get into the Kingdom. For, as we become sons of men, we become sons of God. The riches of Heaven cannot be inherited until we have become something to the Kingdom. Then we enter gloriously into the Kingdom of God."

The anniversary rally of the Bible school will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock. A reception of the members of the church, of whom there are 100 out of the original 115, will be tendered Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, which will be followed by the tenth annual meeting and collation of the church.

During the ten years this church has given $50,000 to benevolent causes, $48,000 for current support, and the present value of the church property is $125,000. Nearly 200 persons have been received into the church through the medium of baptism, and 727 have been actively connected with the church. The present membership is over 500.

500 BALES PURCHASED BY YARNISH COMPANY

Announcement of Big Cotton Deal Is Made by G. W. Nicholson.

Through G. W. Nicholson, local representative of the Murphy Yarnish company, of Newark, N. J., information reached Atlanta yesterday to the effect that Franklin Murphy, head of the concern, had purchased five hundred bales of distress cotton at 10 cents a pound.

According to Manager Nicholson, the cotton will be stored in the south.

Mrs. J. J. Barnes, Jr.,
Died Sunday Morning
At Local Sanitarium

After a lingering illness of several months, Mrs. J. J. Barnes, Jr., one of the most beloved of Atlanta's younger residents, died at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning in a private sanitarium. The end came peacefully, following an operation which offered the only hope of relief. Medical skill was used in an effort to prolong her life, but vain. Just a few short days ago she lost an only child, a bright lad of seven years, whose little life she had been nursing with her own hands. The home was music, whose presence was sunshine and joy. With the departure this promising lad her own life began slowly to ebb.

Mrs. Barnes was in her thirty-sixth year. She was a native of 30 years, and a daughter of W. W. Collins, a prominent resident of the Central City. Her grandfather, Stephen Collins, was a local war hero. On the maternal side, she was a granddaughter of Colonel J. E. Jones, of Macon, a gallant veteran of the sixties. She is survived by her husband, Mr. J. J. Barnes, of Atlanta; an only sister, Mrs. William A. Humphill, of 222 North Avenue, Atlanta; a brother, W. W. Collins, of Washington, D. C.; three aunts, Mrs. William Cox, Mrs. Claude Bates and Mrs. O. A. Jones, all of Atlanta; and a cousin, Mr. J. L. Porter, of 244 North Jackson street. The interment will be at Oakland, Ga., at 11 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church. The interment will be conducted by her pastor.

IMPROVE ROSWELL ROAD. County Commissioners Will Be Urged to Act.

Plans for building a great boulevard in the northern section of the county will be launched before the county commissioners next Wednesday when a committee composed of E. T. Luckie, Captain George M. Hope and J. L. McCrea, will appear and urge that the county begin at once the work of widening and repaving Roswell Road from Buckhead to Piedmont Avenue, the Plaster's Bridge road, and the Powers Ferry road.

It is understood that releases of ten feet have already been obtained from all property owners along the three roads, which are regarded as the most important and members of the committee who are interested in the improvement, and members of the county board, are confident the plans prepared for the improvement of the road as the beginning of a great boulevard.

HOME OF J. L. PORTER DAMAGED BY FLAMES

The residence of J. L. Porter, a traveling salesman, living at 70 Forest avenue, was slightly damaged Sunday afternoon by a fire, starting, it is believed, from a defective fuse. The family were eating Sunday dinner when the cook discovered that the roof above the dining room and kitchen was on fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished by the fire department with an estimated damage of $500 to the house and furnishings by fire and war.

The ladies of the Dean guild of the First Universalist church will hold their regular monthly meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. T. A. Methvin, 111 Elizabeth street.

Committee Will Prepare For Good Roads Congress At Luncheon at the Ansley

The local executive committee of the American Good Roads congress, which assembles in Atlanta in November, will give a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Hotel Ansley in the directors of the Atlanta convention bureau. Mayor James O. Woodward, Governor Jack B. White, and William H. Rouse, president of the Georgia chamber of commerce, A. G. Adams, president of the Rotary club, Mr. Elmo Mansel, president of the Ad Men's club, and Harry Moore, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association. Plans for the entertainment of the 4,000 guests who will be in the city during the roads congress will be discussed. The main reception committee for the roads congress, composed of fifty prominent business men, will be announced, and Mrs. Slaton, who has accepted the chairmanship of the ladies' reception committee, will announce her committee at this time.

A Few Facts Children Should Know

WHETHER a tornado is a straightaway or a whirling wind. That John Adams, the second President, was educated at Harvard.

THAT the tower of London is the oldest fortress in that city. The causes of ocean tides.

WHY the traveler's tree is a boon to mankind.

THAT the tomato originally came from South America.

THAT Iowa leads all the States in agricultural products.

OF what gases our atmosphere is composed.

THE principal features of wireless telegraphy.

THE meanings of Christian names of men and women.

THE increase in United States population in 1910 over 1900.

THE age attained by the dwarf, Tom Thumb.

WHICH is your birthstone?

THE wealthiest country in the world—the least wealthy State of the Union.

History of Warring Nations

DO your children know that Servia was originally inhabited by Thracians? (See Thrace in Vol. V., showing settlements in Turkey as far back as 675 B. C.) And do you realize the value of such information to SCHOOL CHILDREN?

IN addition to the chapter on Russia, there are ten full pages of up-to-the-minute matter on RUSSIAN EXPANSION since Alexander I. became ruler in 1801.

THEN take France, with its various cross-references—Napoleon, the reigns of its many kings and on up to the present.

AND so with Belgium, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, Turkey, Japan—all countries, states, cities, and ALL the important events of the world's history, of such particular educational interest NOW on account of the GREAT EUROPEAN WAR.

Who will probably be the twirling selections of the rival managers opening game of the world's series on Friday.

The Psychology of Baseball Giants Failure to Win the Fourth Consecutive Pennant

By Otis F. Wood.

It manifests itself in many angles of the game. It explains why a pitcher, with less stuff than others is a star; cannot drive the players to do the best. The novelty of winning is gone, and they have not the same ambition.

Who Giants Tied. The other big league teams that won three pennants in succession to fail in their fourth attempts—Chicago Nationals, won 1889; Lost to Boston in 1893. Adrian manager.

This year the Giants had a chance to create a world's record by winning their fourth consecutive pennant. They had probably the best chance of any team in the history of the American and National leagues. They failed.

Only two teams in leagues of top-notch rank have ever won four successive pennants, and these accomplished the feat more than a quarter century ago. They were Boston, which his attempts to get a new manager. "I am sure that six other great managers have done better for me than I have done before him. His team started out well enough, but when Boston challenged them they cracked, and cracked badly. In less than a month he saw his fondest hopes, his most beautiful dreams, crumble in a final dash themselves against the rocks of failure."

Giants Downfall Unexpected.
The downfall of the Giants was one of the most unexpected in years. It was also one of the most pathetic chapters written in the career of McGraw. Only one other can compare with it in this respect, the inability

Some have attributed the triumph of the Braves over New York to overconfidence on the part of the players of the latter team. Others have laid it the general lapse of form of the pitching staff, of which Mathewson has been the only consistent performer. At some point to the failure of the other six teams to win their fourth pennant in a row as proof conclusive that the feat cannot be accomplished in these later days. The winning of the fourth

Is it? Is that the explanation of the Giants' failure to win this year? Is it that the winning team remains as such no more than three years at a stretch and then gives out?

This would appear to be the case. The wins that could be advanced as to why a team, retaining virtually all the stars of its heyday, should fall suddenly, give way at once to a general decline in form, are many. Over-confidence might be one, and injuries and physical lack of condition are others. Then there is the mental state

Players Get Careless.
Continued success, unless taken with a grain of salt, as an old maxim has it, is liable to produce most damaging results. The players on a team that has won with utmost ease three years succession are prone to become careless in their ways. Especially if they obtain a lead early in the season is this condition likely to exist. Remembering their easy victories of the past, they do not worry particularly about the business in hand. They become an easy-going lot, although apparently

But when reverses begin to come their way and the lead that at one time was deemed a safe one dwindles day after day until it becomes a nonentity, the old order changes. The players realize that they have a con-

As is the case of the Giants this year, when the team extends itself to the limit to ward off the impending

McGraw himself views the situation from this angle. He says that it is exceedingly hard to manage a team that has won several pennants in sucression. Unlike a young team, you
